The Superior Sex.

Men have been boasting so long of their superiority, mental and physical, over women, that we reprint the following remarks from the Chicago Post, in order to show his real weakness:

"Take a man and make him wear a spotted veil and he will be nearly blind within a year.

"Pinch a man into corsets and within a week he will have heart trouble, chronic pleurisy, acute indigestion, appendicitis and a funeral.

"Pile a few pounds of false hair on a man's head and he will succumb to brain fever within a month.

"Tie a man's ankle in a hopple skirt and he will have rheumatism, followed by paralysis of the legs from lack of exercise.

"Cramp a man's feet in tight shoes and make him toddle about on high heels and he will die of the charley-horse.

"Man loses on the score of endurance alone. Intellect and executive ability are argued by the capacity to combat these tortures and trials. Man is undoubtedly the inferior sex and should retire to the last row of seats and be quiet.

Use of the Tail.

Very few people ever stop to observe what very useful things animals' tails are to their owners. Horses, cows and other creatures use their caudal appendages as fly flappers. Cats, squirrels and many more twist them around their necks for comforters. The rat has raised the use of his tail to a fine art, for by its means it guides the blind and steals jelly, oil and cream out of jars and bottles. The raccoon catches crabs with its tail, and the monkey finds his tail a valuable asset in swinging its way through his native forests. Fish steer their way by means of their tails; anteater uses his bushy tail as an umbrella, while the vanity of the peacock is fed by the beauty of its tail feathers.

Snake Kills Chickens.

One evening last week about 8:00 o'clock while J. D. Stutz and family were sitting on their back porch they heard a hen and chickens make a great commotion in the wood house. On examination they found a six foot black snake had five young chickens, about the size of quail, tightly embraced in his coil. The old mother hen was fighting the snake for dear life, and before Mr. Stutz could kill the snake it had squeezed several of the chickens to death. The snake had entered the wood house and coiled itself around the old hen and her brood, but only caught five of them in the trap. It was a vicious rascal and showed fight.—Falmouth Outlook.

Make War Against Worry.

Bismarck said, "During my whole life I have not had 24 hours of happiness."

Anxiety constantly racked him to weariness.

Andrew Carnegie said the other day: "I know few millionaires who smile."

The impossibility of throwing off his work hastened the death of E. H. Harriman.

Worry, not work, is killing people. The brow wrinkle of the anxious business man foretells a shortened life.

The great John Wesley declared: "I dare no more fret than I dare curse and swear."

Franklin advised: "Do not anticipate trouble or worry about what may never happen. Keep in the sunlight."

Gladstone was once asked how he could carry the great burdens of his life without worry, and to answer, took the inquirer to his bed room to see the motto that he said faced him every morning. It was a Bible verse: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee, because he trusted in Thee."
